First find currents in resistors using potentials established by batteries

Then use junction rules to find other currents

Continue using junction rules until finished

